There Are Just a Few Who Make Collections Costly

MOST TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS pay their bills promptly and the expense of collecting the majority of telephone accounts is, therefore, reasonable.

BUT THERE ARE A NUMBER of subscribers who overlook their telephone bills, who neglect to pay them within the reasonable specified time, and the cost of collecting these accounts is great—probably two or three times as great as that involved in collecting all the accounts that are paid within the desired period.

THE EFFORT involved in collecting overdue accounts would be saved if all accounts were paid within a reasonable time, and might better be devoted to other work of value to the community's telephone service.

We are taking this means of placing the facts before telephone subscribers in general and we feel certain that they will co-operate by paying their bills promptly.
